How to Make a Website Live Long and Prosper

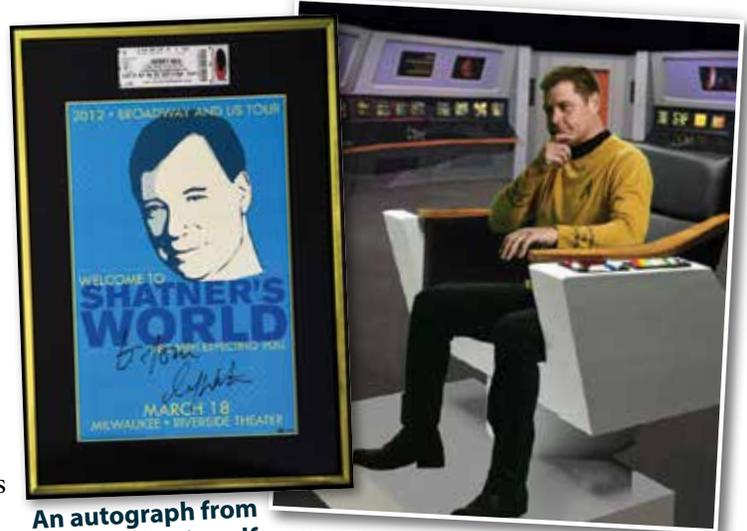

by Tom Foster, Founder and CEO at Foster Web Marketing

A few years ago, I was having dinner with my friends at Hupy and Abraham after they had taken me to meet my longtime hero and rumored father, Captain Kirk.

(Well, it was really William Shatner doing his one-man show.) He did an amazing job with self-deprecating humor based on all the crap he gets for the outlandish jobs he takes. William Shatner is featured in Hupy and Abraham's TV commercials, and my friends took me backstage so I could get an autograph from the Captain himself.

But my love for Captain Kirk is a story I will share at another time. My point here is to tell what Jason Abraham, partner at Hupy and Abraham, said to me that night at dinner. First, you must know that Jason is a great guy, a fantastic attorney, and an excellent managing partner of the firm. He is also a little intimidating, which says a lot, as I am not easily intimidated by anyone!

Anyway, Jason leaned over and whispered in my ear, "Tom, I want you to make us the best. I only want the best out of you—no compromise, no BS, just the best you can give us." He looked me directly in the eye like it was a direct order. He held my gaze for a few seconds then slapped me on the back and

LET US REINTRODUCE YOU TO DSS: A TOOL YOU'RE NOT USING ENOUGH

Recently, we've noticed a problem.

You have an amazing piece of marketing software (DSS) at your disposal, and we have dropped the ball explaining its greatest features. We are constantly updating, upgrading, enhancing, and tweaking DSS to be the most awesome inbound marketing software, and we recognize that a number of clients don't even realize all they can do with DSS! That's our bad—we haven't done the best job sharing this stuff with you all, but we're changing that starting right now!

If you aren't familiar with DSS, here's a quick snapshot:

DSS is software that allows you to update the content on your website at any time and see page-by-page analytics information, and it also functions as a Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system! It's like a one-stop-shop for your online marketing efforts, so please excuse us if we tend to brag a little bit; we're pretty proud.

Since August, we've made a very long list of updates and enhancements. Some of them will probably blow you away; other stuff may seem like no big deal. But each change brings a better user experience for you and ultimately your audience, and that is a HUGE deal!

Here's a [very] abbreviated list of DSS updates:

1 The CRM Dashboard and Contact Section received overhauls:

Get a better idea of how your emails are performing, sort based on your best performing campaigns, and see where your users are converting. This data is GOLD! These are people most likely to become paying clients, so these are leads you should nurture!

2 We are HIPAA compliant:

We now offer compliance with all HIPAA (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) provisions. Essentially, this means the security measures we have been utilizing are officially recognized. It was not like getting a seal of approval—this was a huge undertaking—but it does mean we've been implementing the right measures from the get-go! Hooray!

3 Brand New Mobile sites:

We are really excited about this one! Our new mobile site designs are responsive to whatever device they are used on. They're faster, more user-friendly, and better integrated with their corresponding desktop sites. In short, they are totally AWESOME, and Google loves them—consistently giving our mobile sites super high scores.

Respect the POWER of REVIEWS

The bottom line: reviews will impact your business. Make sure they have a positive impact with a sustainable review strategy!

Reviews have become increasingly important for all businesses. No, really—a recent survey shows that 88 percent of consumers read online reviews, and 85 percent of those read 10 or more reviews before making a decision. That means nearly every single person who has called your office has probably read your reviews! If you want to do well, you need to have a good review reputation online.

To help ensure that you're following best practice review-gathering strategies, we've answered some of the most frequently asked questions when it comes to reviews:

What is the best way to get reviews?

Ask! It's really that simple. If you have happy customers, ask if they would consider leaving you a review. You can send these people to a vanity URL (like www.ReviewMyBusiness.com) and link to review sites with one big exception: Yelp. Only send users to Yelp through a button on your website that uses a Google search link. This way, Yelp won't see you send people to its site, but the link will still offer direct access to your page on the review site. For directions on how to do this, visit FWM.tips.

Should I pay someone to get reviews for me?

If someone offers to dramatically increase the number of good reviews you get, run away! The only people who offer instant, positive reviews are cheating cheaters who cheat, and any reviews you get will be fictitious and almost guaranteed to get your reviews, both real and fake, yanked from review sites.

Can I transfer testimonials or written reviews to review sites?

No. If you're sent a kind, glowing email or someone responds positively on a comment card in your office, you absolutely cannot transfer these kind words to review sites.

What you can do is use this opportunity to ask for a review. When you get a positive email response or verbal comment, thank the person for the kind words, and ask if he wouldn't mind sharing them with others looking for excellent legal or medical care.

Should I ask friends, family, and my employees to write reviews?

No. Not only could this get reviews yanked (if they all come from your office, for example), it's just bad business. It's disingenuous, it's cheating, and it can create a bad feeling among your staff. Nobody wants to feel forced into this kind of thing. 🌐 laughed his big laugh, and we continued eating and drinking. I must tell you, I felt a little defensive at first, like we weren't already doing the best we could for him. But after thinking more about it, I decided to pull out all the stops for this guy and his team. I felt challenged!

Want more? We've dedicated a whole webinar on creating a sustainable review strategy (yeah, it's a big deal). Watch it at FWM.tips, or give us a call at 844-531-4797. We'd love to hear from you!

Hupy and Abraham is now, years later, one of the top PI firms in the country— and this team ensures its place at the top by putting in the time and money (being the best isn't cheap!).

We work very closely with the firm's AMAZING marketing director, Jill Wellskopf, whose team pretty much handles everything. Through the many design revisions of the Hupy and Abraham website, we have maintained the highest level of mutual trust between our people. They listen to our advice, we listen to their ideas, and then we implement what they need. I will never forget Jason's challenge: "Make us the best!"

So with great pride, and on behalf of the entire team at FWM, I am thrilled to announce that we were recently honored by "The Webby Awards" for Hupy and Abraham's website! What the heck is a Webby Award? Hailed as the "Internet's highest honor" by The New York Times, The Webby Awards are the leading international award honoring excellence on the Internet, including websites; interactive advertising and media; online film and video; mobile sites and apps; and social media. The Webby Awards received nearly 13,000 entries from all 50 states and over 60 countries this year!

Check out www.FWMdesign.com to see Hupy and Abraham's responsive website—a Webby Award Honoree!

Please join me in congratulating the Hupy-FWM partnership for this prestigious honor! Job well done to all. It really goes to show you that partnering together and trusting one another goes a long way! 🌐
